

McCormick

Northwestern Engineering

Northwestern University Section of
The Society of Women Engineers
presents

STEP for Girls

June 14th-16th, 2010

What is STEP?

A free 3-day summer program that provides girls entering grades 8 & 9 an introduction to the different fields of engineering

Participants will:

- Work in teams to complete and present a three day design activity
- Participate in hands-on activities and classroom lessons
- Learn about the different engineering disciplines and the career opportunities within each
- Explore laboratories at Northwestern's Technological Institute
- Interact with small groups with Northwestern undergraduate engineering students
- Speak with professional female engineers
- Meet other girls who are also excited about engineering!

How to Apply:

Visit <http://msgroups.tech.northwestern.edu/swe/summerprogram> for more information and to download an application.

Application Deadline: May 31, 2010

Questions?

Contact Natalie, Summer Program Chair at step.nuswe@gmail.com